HAN Hong Kim Lau-~~2~~

Chen Wong Ho Lo Lee Kyle~~3~~

Generally, every speaker had difficulty with swaying back and forth, speaking ^{way} too fast, and otherwise fidgeting throughout their speaking question, crossing (cross exam). Additionally, every speaker had trouble reading their arguments. Practice, practice, practice!

More passion is needed!

Every speaker will benefit from learning how to control their body while speaking, practicing reading aloud, speaking passionately, and slowing down.

Congratulations to the senators and the presiding officer for a very good round.

The ~~senators~~ senators with the highest marks were

- those who knew their material well - in presentation + responses
- those who were loud + clear + confident in presentation
- those who asked pointed questions which couldn't just be answered yes/no

It was very difficult to differentiate those past the first four competitors.

Very impressive poise + confidence shown by all senators. Attention + respect + knowledge of the rules of the chamber.

P.O. → thank you for running a chamber that got the job done + guiding the senators well.
