RFD: Voted PROP because they overall did a great job explaining their case, attacking the opposing case, and defending their criterion. PROP won this by choosing a difficult criterion to successfully argue against. This criterion was a solid foundation followed by very concrete contentions with illustrations. Ultimately, the PROP's contentions flowed through its criterion. The OPP's case was logical and well-supported, just didn't counter PROP's approach fully. The PROP's reply was quite strong -- Kate did a great job going down the OPP case and attacking each point while reinforcing each of her own PROP contentions in the process. Kudos!
